

Will nonprofits be able to create new jobs as a result of proposed tax credits?

Yesterday the Senate voted to approve the $15 million jobs bill. To encourage job creation for small businesses and nonprofits, the bill calls for tax credits to subsidize wage and hour increases for new hires. This could potentially mean the creation of 250,000 new jobs in the nonprofit sector. But will this happen?

Don't miss an opportunity to hear from a dynamic panel of experts who will engage us in a thoughtful discussion about the merits of a nonprofit tax credit

Who: Christian Dorsey
Director of External and Government Relations at the Economic Policy Institute

Jeff Hamond
Economic Policy Director, Office of Senator Charles Schumer (D-NY)

Susan Rees
Director of Policy and National Projects, Wider Opportunities for Women

Dr. Lester M. Salamon
Director of the Center for Civil Society Studies at the Institute for Policy Studies, Johns Hopkins University

When: Tomorrow – February 26th

Where: The Capitol, Room HC-6

Time: Noon – 1:30pm

Don't wait. Please RSVP your attendance to cssevents@cssny.org or call (212) 614-5406.